About Anthony Venafro:

In his role, Anthony Venafro, primarily focuses on supporting the Luck Stone business unit by ensuring operational compliance with local permits at their seven locations in Northern Virginia. He also dedicates a portion of his time to maximizing the value of the company's real estate portfolio by managing and negotiating leases and coordinating a variety of land transactions.

Mr. Venafro attributes the success in his role to building strong relationships with the communities in which Luck Stone serves and the government stakeholders which oversee Luck's operations.

Anthony is a native of Northern Virginia, born and raised in western Fairfax County. After attending Paul VI High School in Fairfax, he graduated from James Madison University and entered the land development industry as a civil designer for Loiederman Soltesz Associates and ultimately became the Director of Engineering at SMITH Engineering. He has been in his current role with Luck Stone since 2017 and resides in Leesburg, Virginia with his wife, Elizabeth, and two girls, Capri and Ava. If not with his family, you may find Anthony in the sand trap at a local golf course or in a dug out coaching high school baseball.
